Dear Sam

I am writing to you in a formal capacity regarding the proposed change in Charitable status of the Museum trustees. We are pursuing the Charitable Incorporated Organisation route (CIO) which means we become a corporate trustee body and not a group of individual trustees.

This will mean a change in our lease with the PC but that is something for another day and for which we would indemnify the Parish Council for any legal expenses incurred.

The point of this letter is that our trust deed of February 1980 indicates that the Parish Council shall nominate three persons to the Museum trustee body. This has fallen into disuse, although a couple of current trustees consider themselves to be so nominated sometime in the past.

In the CIO we are looking for trustees who can make a contribution to the Museums workings and aims and we request that the Parish Council formally withdraws from this role of nomination.

Please could you place this item on your agenda for discussion and a decision and let me know in writing in due course.

In the meantime if you require any further information please do let me know.

Yours sincerely

Andrew Symonds
Chairman of Trustees
Cuckfield Museum
